Full-Stack Developer Life Science

Full-time (f/m/d)

charon

You want to work with state-of-the-art technology and take responsibility?

You are looking for an industry with social responsibility?

➜ What to expect

We are a young company specialized in software in the field of medical technology.

Our customers are hospitals and hospital groups. We provide software and IoT devices for the digitalization of the hospital processes for patients who passed away.

During the difficult Corona period, we also helped our customers to vaccinate their staff quickly and efficiently with our appointment scheduling and vaccination documentation solution. We are proud to have processed over 40,000 vaccinations.

We are looking for reinforcement in the software development.

➜ What we expect from you

For us, personal commitment, willingness to take responsibility and technical excellence are key. Here's what will help you:

— Web development (Angular/React,...)
— Backend development (Java, Spring,...)
— Containerized applications (Docker,...)
— Linux, basics of networking

➜ What we offer

We work agile and very closely with our customers. We want you to develop professionally and personally and to help us shape our future.

— Flexible and independent working environment
— Technically challenging topics
— Good working equipment
— Payment in line with industry standards

SEND YOUR APPLICATION TO JOBS@CHARON-LOGISTICS.COM